

The no-call list works and nothing should be done to change the current law preventing telemarketers from calling me against my wishes.